COMMITTEE

Society Brand Clothes

Plain Talk for You, Sir!

Much advertising these days is like the great gas clouds which the armies of Europe are hurling at each other.

It envelopes you in a thick fog of superlatives and exaggerations, in which you can only rub your eyes and gasp for breath.

Here, by way of contrast, is our advertising code: to be straightforward—to be truthful—to be brief.

When you have such merchandise as "Abel-Mullen Clothes" at $20, $25 and $30, you can safely leave a lot to be said by the goods themselves.

ALL OF GLASS ONE MEN ARE CALLED

County Clerk Sam Church has received word that all of Class 1 men will be called for active service during the month of July, so that those of our young men who are in this class can commence to prepare for the coming event without a great deal of delay. The number that will go and the date is as follows:

June 28th, 22 men, to go to Fort Riley, Kansas.
July 1, 6 men, to go to Chicago. These men will attend a school there.
July 5th, 66 men, to go to Columbus Barracks, Ohio.
July 15th, 66 men to go to Columbus Barracks, Ohio.
July 25th, 813 men, to go to Camp Grant.

Total number of men to leave from Wood county during the next thirty days will be 473. The county clerk and his assistants are now at work preparing the lists for the different contingents so that the men can be notified in ample time of the call and the date on which they are to leave.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

—There has been repeated complaints that people in quarantine are not staying at home and this is to notify everyone that if any person in quarantine, is found away from his home, that arrest and criminal prosecution will follow.

This notice is given, that no one will have any excuse for claiming that he was ignorant of the law. R. S. PAYNE, Chief of Police.

PAYING SOME TAXES

The Consolidated Water Power & Paper Company will pay into the city of Grand Rapids its share of the state income tax the sum of $22,052.05. The village of Elk Rapids will receive from this same source the sum of $22,126.53. This will result in making it unnecessary for the village of Elk Rapids to raise any general tax.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

Ernest Nelson was brought to this city last week and lodged in jail pending his trial at the next term of the circuit court, his bail bond having been fixed at $2,500, which he is unable to furnish. It is alleged that Nelson forged the name of Dr. V. Mason to a check for $63, which he succeeded in getting the money on, but was afterward caught.

WIND STORM AT MILLADORE

Frank Clark and Arthur Rockwood, who were up at Milladore last night, report that a windstorm of a cyclonic character passed through that section about 9 o'clock last night and caused considerable damage. The worst damage that they saw was to the house and barn on the Bulgrin place, which is about a mile south of Milladore, where the house and barn were entirely wrecked. Mrs. Bulgrin had one arm cut, but they could not state how badly she was hurt. They also stated that damage was done both east and west of the Bulgrin place and that a house belonging to Kruback was wrecked near the Bulgrin place and the silo damaged.

CAPTURES 83 GERMANS

According to a telegram that was received in this city on Wednesday Henry Lenert, son of P. Lenert, of the town of Saratoga, distinguished himself by capturing 83 Germans single handed. While the particulars of the affair are not very elaborate, still there must be something to it, as the report is one that came by wire and has been given publicly in all papers.

The Chicago Herald and Examiner had a picture of young Lenert this morning with a write up of his exploit, also there is nothing given further than the fact that he captured 82 Germans single handed, five of whom were officers. Young Lenert is only 21 years of age and is a member of the marine corps, having enlisted in Chicago.

LION ESCAPES

There was a whole lot of excitement at the carnival grounds at Elk Rapids last night, and it was also exciting there when a lion escaped from a cage. While a lion was being transferred from a shipping cage to the exhibition cage it managed to escape. With a roar it bounded across the grounds and attacked two horses of whom were officers. Young Lenert is only 21 years of age and is a member of the marine corps, having enlisted in Chicago.

Beside the music by the band there will be a series of athletic contests under the direction of A. P. Mulroy. There will also be a dance during the evening at the Pavilion, and there is no reason why anybody who is looking for good times on the Fourth should not make their headquarters at Grand Rapids. Come in early and stay all day, as there will be accommodations for everybody.

DAN ELLIS IN SMASHUP

Dan Ellis of this city was in the smashup of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus which occurred near Hammond, Indiana, on Saturday, when eight-five of the employees of the circus were killed and 150 injured. However, Mr. Ellis escaped without a scratch. The wreck was caused by another train smashing into the circus train, demolishing several of the coaches on the circus train. The engineer of the train is reported to have been asleep and did not see the signals, and the result was that he crashed into the train while traveling at the rate of 50 miles an hour. At the time of the smashup he took fire, and many of those who had merely been injured or pinned in the debris, were burned to death. The remains of the train are being taken to the city for identification. Mr. Ellis was playing in the circus band, and had been with them since they started out this spring, and telephoned to his people in this city to let them know that he had escaped without injury.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

Owing to the fact that next Thursday is the 4th of July, and consequently a national holiday, the Tribune will be closed the day of the celebration, and correspondents should make a note of the fact and get their correspondence in time so that it can be published on Thursday. Remember that the Tribune goes to press at noon, so that correspondence must be in the day before in order to be available.

BIG CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR JULY 4

While the details for the big celebration that is to occur on the 4th of July in this city are not complete at the present time, there is no question but what Grand Rapids will have the biggest time in its history from a patriotic standpoint.

The band has been engaged to play during the entire day, and the military companies from Stevens Point and Marshfield will be here on that day, and they will assist in the celebration. All of the arrangements for the day have not been completed, but enough has been done so that there is no doubt but what it will be a big day for all. During the morning there will be an industrial parade, and an effort is being made to have as many of the merchants turn out as is possible. There will be a number of nice floats in the parade. There will be drills by the three military companies, a baseball game during the afternoon, a fire run in the evening and games of all kinds for the young people with cash prizes.

WORK OR FIGHT ORDER

GOING INTO EFFECT NOW

The local exemption board has received notice of the work or fight order issued by Provost Marshal Crowder, and according to the rules laid down therein there are a number of people in this community who will be affected by the order. This applies more generally to large cities than it does to small places, as there are always a larger number of hangers on in cities that have no apparent business on earth than there are in the smaller places.

In an oral statement announcing the regulation officials of General Crowder's office said that "at present" the occupation of a baseball player is regarded as non-productive work, but that in a case had been appealed from a local board there would be no ruling on the subject.

Traveling salesmen will be considered as engaged in productive employment, but if they are not in cities will not, it was explained. Local boards are asked to assist registrants to obtain new employment, and to give power to postpone action while effort is being made to place men in occupations held productive.

When it has been determined that a person in deferred classification is an idler or is engaged in non-productive employment, the instructions say "the classification and number of such person will be withdrawn and he will immediately be inducted into the military service."

The regulations provide that:

1. Persons engaged in the service of food and drink or either in public places, including hotels and social clubs, are engaged in non-productive employment. This, however, does not include managers, clerks, cooks or other employees, unless they are engaged in the actual serving of food and drink.

2. That passenger elevator operators and attendants in clubs, hotels, stores, apartment houses, office buildings and bath houses, are engaged in non-productive employment. The words "other attendants" include bell-boys and also include porters, unless such porters are engaged in heavy work, such as carrying baggage, etc.

3. That persons including ushers and other attendants, engaged and occupied in and in connection with games, sports and amusements, except actual performers in legitimate theatrical performances are engaged in non-productive occupations or employments.

4. That a person engaged in domestic service in a non-productive employment or occupation, but this does not include public or private chauffeurs, unless they should also be engaged in some other occupation or employment defined as non-productive.

5. That sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments are engaged in non-productive employments, except in the case of store executives, managers, superintendents or heads of such departments as accounting, financial, advertising, etc.

6. That persons engaged in shipping and other departments; does not include registered pharmacists employed in wholesale or retail drug establishments, and does not include traveling salesmen, buyers, delivery drivers, electricians, engineers, carpenters, upholsterers nor any employees doing heavy work outside the usual duties of clerks.

7. That the clerical force in the office and in all departments of stores and mercantile establishments, except in the case of store executives, managers, superintendents or heads of such departments as accounting, financial, advertising, etc.

8. That persons engaged in selling goods and wares are engaged in non-productive employment, except in the case of traveling salesmen, buyers, delivery drivers, electricians, engineers, carpenters, upholsterers nor any employees doing heavy work outside the usual duties of clerks.

9. That persons engaged in the service of food and drink or either in public places, including hotels and social clubs, are engaged in non-productive employment. This, however, does not include managers, clerks, cooks or other employees, unless they are engaged in the actual serving of food and drink.

10. That persons engaged in the service of food and drink or either in public places, including hotels and social clubs, are engaged in non-productive employment. This, however, does not include managers, clerks, cooks or other employees, unless they are engaged in the actual serving of food and drink.

11. That persons engaged in the service of food and drink or either in public places, including hotels and social clubs, are engaged in non-productive employment. This, however, does not include managers, clerks, cooks or other employees, unless they are engaged in the actual serving of food and drink.

GRAND RAPIDS BOY GIVES UP HIS LIFE

Bernard A. Schwabke, commonly known to his friends in this city as "Steve" was killed in action in France, about three weeks ago, the date given being between the 6th and 8th of June. Steve was a member of the Marine Corps, and was no doubt in some of the thick of the fighting that was in progress over there during the fore part of the month, when the marines did such effective work. The word of his death was received Tuesday evening by Mr. George M. Hill, who was a great friend of his, and where he had practically made his home whenever in the city. The notification of his death was as follows:

Washington, D. C., June 25, 1918
Mrs. George M. Hill:

Deeply regret to inform you that your son, Bernard A. Schwabke of the Marine Corps, was killed in action between June 6th and 8th. Remains will be interred about until end of week. Accept my heartfelt sympathy for your great loss. Your friend nobly gave his life in the service of his country.

George Barnett, Major General Commandant.

It is needless to state that the news of Steve's death cast a shadow of gloom over the city of Grand Rapids. There were few young fellows in town who were better known and more universally liked than he was. His disposition was a happy one and made him friends wherever he went, and it was like losing a member of the family for many people in the city.

Mr. Schwabke was 27 years of age, and before he enlisted in the army was employed in the grocery department of the Johnson & Hill Company's store. Here he worked with a vim and intelligence that made him a favorite with both his employers and the trading public, so that it was but a short time before he was almost indispensable in that establishment. When the war broke out he was one of the first to respond to the heavy call and entered the officers training camp at Fort Sheridan when that was first organized. He did not succeed in obtaining a commission, however, but was discharged from the camp, enlisted in the marines, where he has since served his country.

Deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schwabke of Vedum, where the family has resided during the past 14 years. He is survived by his parents, like brothers and three sisters. He was a member of the Elks, Masons and Eastern Stars of this city and of the Modern Woodmen at Pittsville.

The following verses were recently sent to Roy Lester by Steve and as they are quite characteristic of the happy manner on which he looked upon the life of life, they are published herewith:

When the cold is making ice cream of the marrow in your bones,
When you're shivering like jelly,
And your feet feel dead as stones,
When your clothes, shoes and blanket
Keep your wife and your kit,
Are soaked from hell to breakfast,
And the dug out where you sit,
Is leaking like a basket,
And upon the muddy floor,
The water lies in pools,
Six inches deep or more,
The life seems cold and miserable
And all the world seem wet,
You get through somehow how
If you have a cigarette.

When Fritz is starting something,
And his guns are on the bust,
When the parapet goes up in chunks
And settles down in dust,
When a big whiz bang comes thru
The air,
And lands on a dug out though
The dug out is not there,
When the air is full of dust and smoke,
And scraps of steel and noise
Are all around you, and you're
Crowns and other heavenly joys
Your nerves are all a tremble,
And your brain is all a fret,
It isn't half as hopeless
If you've got a cigarette.

Steve.

WILL SEE THE BOYS OFF

The band will be out tomorrow to see the boys off on the train. They will leave over the St. Paul road at 12:30, and it is expected that the hands of the citizens out to see the boys go.

Ben Hansen returned recently from a trip thru the northern part of the state, looking over the potato situation up in that country. Mr. Hansen states that some of the statements made in regard to the number of potatoes that are in the hands of the farmers in this section is, in his opinion, greatly exaggerated, and he thinks that last year's crop will be pretty well cleared up by the time that new potatoes are available in this section.

Several good bicycles left, a girl's, a juvenile and a few men's bicycles. Come and see them. Johnson & Hill Co. May 7th in France.

BUY A SILO

The TECKTONIUS is not an advertised Silo. It is sold by responsible dealers to practical farmers who are looking for the best silo money can buy. The staves do not come coated with paint or creosote to hide defects. You can see before you buy, exactly what we deliver. No chance for disappointment.

If TECKTONIUS advertised in every farm paper published, paid big commissions and traveling expenses to salesmen you would have to pay your proportionate part of his expense when you purchased.

Is there any good reason why you should spend your money for an article you have never seen—and take for granted what a stranger tells you about a silo, when you can see with your own eyes what we offer and at a fair price?

You are given a signed guarantee when you order. Erecting specifications are furnished when equipment is delivered. Every detail to the last nut and bolt is found exactly as represented.

We say frankly that any silo is better than no silo—but the TECKTONIUS is the best. Let us prove this statement. Come and see why we make this claim. You will then appreciate why we are so enthusiastic about the TECKTONIUS.

U. S. INDICTS FOUR IN CONTRACT PLOT

Department of Justice Makes Serious Charges Against Men.

CLAIM TO HAVE INFLUENCE

Alleged to Have Offered to Obtain Government Work Provided Firm Split Profits—Federal Agents Raid Many Concerns.

Washington, June 16.—Sensational disclosures of alleged graft conspiracy in connection with government contracts were made on Monday by the department of justice in announcing the indictment in Philadelphia of John Fleming, John T. Cavanaugh, Eugene Sullivan and Joseph Kohn.

These men are charged with having offered to obtain for the Quaker City Ironworks company, Philadelphia, a contract for 100,000 army raincoats, provided the concern split profits for the use of their "influence."

The department severely scored the practices of "contingent fee contractors," and promised to round up numbers of these men in Washington, New York and other cities.

Late Monday agents of the department and officers of the military and naval intelligence spread a net over all sections of the country. Private papers of hundreds of corporations having contractual relations with the government were examined.

The four men arrested fell into a trap set by the government. B. A. Pittman, president of the railroad company, having disclosed to the government the improper proposals, the four men were induced to come to Washington to draw up with Pittman a formal contract under which a commission was to be paid.

The sum of $500 in cash was to be exacted of Pittman for the benefit of an officer in the quartermaster's corps, who, the four men assured the railroad manufacturer, "had to be fixed."

Pittman paid over the $500. It was stated, and the money was declared to have been found on Fleming. Kohn was arrested at Boston.

They were all indicted by the grand jury for conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States.

In addition to the announcement that search is being made of the records of all manufacturers with contractual relations with the government, the statement added:

"There is no intention to interfere with legitimate relationship between manufacturers and various departments of the government. The contractors, but the manufacturer must deal directly with the department and not through a middleman or agents employed on a contingent fee basis."

Henry Ford in Senate Race Accepts Indorsement of Michigan Democrats at Request of President.

Washington, June 15.—Henry Ford decided on Thursday to accept the Democratic indorsement for nomination for senator from Michigan after being urged to do so by President Wilson.

Realizing that there are exceptional opportunities for service to our people during the present and coming reorganization, I am ready and willing to do everything I possibly can to assist our president in this great work. Every man must expect to make great service sacrifices and be prepared to serve wherever the greatest need exists."

HUNS KILL 10,000 RUSS Members of Red Guard Almost Wiped Out by Germans West of Tannograd.

The bolshevik troops, it is announced, coming from Lelisk, landed on the Ukraine coast of the Sea of Azov and were advancing toward Tannograd. More than 3,000 dead bolshevik soldiers were counted and this did not include the bodies of those drowned. General Kruzev claims the losses of the Germans were slight.

U. S. MEN TO CONQUER SOLDIERS AND MATERIAL BEING RUSHED TO FRANCE.

Wilson Tells President of France That Forces of Freedom Must Win Triumph.

Washington, June 17.—The purpose of the United States to send men and materials to France until "any temporary inequality of force is entirely overcome" was reiterated by President Wilson in replying to a message from President Poincaré on the anniversary of the landing of the first American troops in Europe.

The president's cablegram, made public by the state department, said: "Your telegram was certainly conceived in the highest and most generous spirit of friendship, and I am sure that I am expressing the feeling of the people of the United States as well as my own when I say that it is with increasing pride and gratification that they have seen their forces under General Pershing more and more actively co-operating with the forces of liberation on French soil."

"It is the fixed and unalterable purpose to send men and materials in steady and increasing volume until any temporary inequality of force is entirely overcome and the forces of freedom made overwhelming, for they are convinced that it is only by victory that peace can be achieved and the world's affairs settled upon a basis of enduring justice and right."

FOURTH LOAN FOR 6 BILLIONS

McAdoo Says Certificates of Indebtedness Will Precede Liberty Loan.

WILL BEAR 4 1-2 PER CENT

Secretary of the Treasury Announces Program for the Next Four Months—Banks Asked to Aid.

Washington, June 18.—The government's financial program for the next four months was disclosed on Sunday night by Secretary McAdoo's announcement in preparation for the fourth Liberty loan, to be floated probably in October, about $6,000,000 certificates of indebtedness will be issued.

They will be offered in blocks of $750,000,000 each every two weeks beginning June 25.

Every national bank and trust company is asked to assist the government by subscribing 5 per cent of its gross resources monthly.

The certificates will bear 4 1/2 per cent interest, like those preceding the third Liberty loan, and will have varying maturity periods, not exceeding four months.

The announcement of this program indicates that the fourth Liberty loan will be for at least $6,000,000,000, the exact amount depending on government expenditures in the next four months.

The treasury already has estimated these roughly at about $12,000,000,000 between July 1 and next January 1.

The sale of certificates under the plan in effect during the last year amounts virtually to borrowing in advance from banks on projected popular war loans or tax collections, and periodically refunding these short-term obligations in long-term Liberty bonds.

Depository banks make 2 1/2 per cent net, the difference between the 4 1/2 per cent interest paid by the government and the 2 per cent from the deposits.

FAVORS WORK LAW

WILSON APPROVES MARYLAND'S COMPULSORY REGULATION.

President Urges Nation-Wide Movement to Supplement Marshal Crowder's Order.

Washington, June 15.—President Wilson has approved a national compulsory work movement to supplement Marshal Crowder's "work or fight" regulations.

In a letter to Governor Harrington of Maryland, made public here Thursday night, the president indorsed adoption by other states of the Maryland compulsory work law, under which the "work or fight" principle is made applicable to all men between the ages of eighteen and fifty.

The president's letter to Governor Harrington follows:

"Your letter of May 21 calls my attention to the proposal for a national-wide movement based upon the principles embodied in the Maryland compulsory work law.

"I can say without hesitation that I am heartily in accord with any movement intended to bring every citizen to a full realization of his responsibilities as a participant in this war.

"Upon our entrance into the war, I called upon our citizens to mobilize their energies for its prosecution in every way that was possible.

"The response has been exceedingly gratifying. The slogan 'work or fight' has everywhere been taken up as a satisfactory expression of the spirit of the people.

"The instances of failure to appreciate its force and significance have been few.

"It is only natural, however, that those few cases should excite the feeling that the spirit of the community should in some way be enforced by law upon those unwilling to co-operate of their own initiative.

"The memorandum which you have prepared points out how wisely Maryland has acted in this matter. I particularly admire the care the Maryland legislature has taken to be just in the provisions of the law, which protect the honest workman in his rights and privileges.

"I assume the safeguards of this legislation against the possibility of abuse include the maintenance of those standards and working conditions which the council of national defense and the national war labor board have set up as indispensable to the nation's full productive efficiency.

"I hope that it will be possible to duplicate the action and experience of Maryland in other states."

It has been given out that the Fourth Liberty Loan will probably take place in October. The rate of interest will be the same as the third loan, 4 1/2 per cent. The exact total has not been set but has been estimated at 6 billion dollars. (3) For coal so received by lake shipment at any of the docks aforesaid, and sold for delivery by truck, wagon or other usual facility for retail delivery to consumers without any rail reshipment prices must be fixed and determined in the manner and according to the provisions and limitations prescribed in the regulations of the United States Fuel Administrator, relative to maximum gross margins of retail coal dealers.

People who complain because they are unable to get some little luxuries should remember that our forefathers lived without sugar till the thirteenth century, without coal till the fourteenth, without butter till the fifteenth, without tobacco and coffee till the sixteenth, without tea, coffee and soap till the seventeenth, without umbrellas and lamps till the eighteenth, and without trains, telegraph, telephone, gas and matches till the nineteenth.—Boston Globe.

REGISTRANTS TO BE GIVEN

TECHNICAL TRAINING

Nearly 157,000 Negro soldiers are now in the National Army. Of these 1,000 are line officers holding commissions of captain and first and second lieutenants. There are about 250 colored officers in the Medical and Dental Reserve Corps.

The Army now includes two divisions of colored troops, which when fully constituted will include practically all branches of the service. Infantry, Engineers, Signal Corps, Cavalry, Medical Corps, and service battalions with men technically trained in all branches of scientific work.

There are now openings in the Veterinary Corps for Negroes skilled in veterinary and agricultural work. Arrangements have been completed to send Negroes registered but not yet called to schools and colleges this summer for training in radio engineering, electrical engineering, auto mechanics, blacksmithing and the operation of motor vehicles.

ARTILLERY FOR AMERICAN ARMY TO BE MOTORIZED

MotORIZATION of field artillery will be carried to a greater extent in the American Army than in any other army engaged in the war. Not only will a far greater amount of motor equipment be provided in proportion to the strength of the Army, but it will be used for work where armies now in the field depend solely upon horse power and man power.

Motorized artillery has succeeded in developing such types of tractors that, exclusive of the heaviest field artillery mounted on railroad carriages, all American artillery will be motorized, with the exception of some of the 3-inch howitzers.

The problem of motorization of field artillery is a difficult one, which explains why it has not been carried to a greater extent than has been the case with the cavalry, which have been fighting in Europe for the last three years.

The possible output of tractors for the transport of field artillery in the United States is practically unlimited, whereas the supply of horses is at present limited and is becoming more so each month.

Field Artillery—Julius Fieldkowsky was arrested by Sheriff Howell and brought to Neillsville, and is now in jail awaiting a trial on a charge of threatening to do great bodily harm. Fieldkowsky owned a farm near Thorpe and lost it through foreclosure action. He took the law in his own hands and threatened to kill the person who lived on the farm. It is understood that he drove three teams with the place in the hands of John Dietz and the matter was finally brought to the attention of the district attorney and sheriff.

Fieldkowsky had made threats that if the sheriff came to the farm he would see to it that some of the sheriff's assistants at least would meet with injury. By a ruse Sheriff Howell got Fieldkowsky at a time when his rifle had been left behind, with the result that he was taken into custody without being able to carry out his threats and is now in jail awaiting trial.

HEARD and SEEN at the CAPITAL

And There Was Nothing Romantic About Him

WASHINGTON.—He was a mid-age man with a bulge to his vest that showed for a life of good dinners. His gray suit would have been a credit to the king's tailor—never mind what king—and his brand new Panama was as fine a hat as any ever came from Panama, and he had not made them there.

And while the man looked at the styles a couple of women who were looking along because they were too early for the theater paused in the shadow where the arc light couldn't get at them and looked at the man. The one who was a double-barreled widow—two wedding rings in stock—knew exactly why the man looked in the window.

"I can read his type like a book. You can't tell me! He's a man who has been doing the primrose-daily act until his doctor has had to prescribe a moral diet of marriage and home. His following of the prescription will depend on whether or not he can stand the shock of those price tags."

"No such thing." The dissenting opinion was handed down by the other, who was obviously single, because—oh, well, maybe heaven, in its goodness, will explain some day why nature is allowed to make ugly women. "No such thing! I bet he's a good man, who remained single because he had his mother and sisters to provide for—and now that he is free, the girl he loved is no more—and he is standing there, breaking his poor, dear heart because he can't give her all those lovely things. And I bet he is saying to himself, 'Too late, too late!'"

"You poor thing! We'll be too late ourselves if we don't hurry up."

So they hurried up. And when they were in their chairs and had turned around to see what sort of house it was going to be, about the first person their eyes lit on was the gray-suit man tucking his Panama under his seat.

It is always advisable to know when you are licked. There is no man equal the pastry that mother used to make, but it is a lot of work and time on your immortal soul. Therefore: The woman had to admit that perhaps just perhaps—the man was neither a primrose nor a provider for mother and the girls, and that maybe—just maybe—he had been looking, like themselves, until time for the play to begin.

How Washington Landlords Gouge Their Tenants

WHEN a brand-new population about the size of a manufacturing city like South Bend drops in unexpectedly upon a small-sized large town, already completely filled, such as Washington, there are bound to be a few critics of the situation.

Consequently the rental sections of the national capital early in the war had become an unwholesome family reunion, wherein pop and mom soon were all fed up with visitors.

"Come and see us one day while you're here," they said over the telephone to me, with all the warmth of Charles Evans Hughes opening his front door and finding a delegation of California voters on the front stoop.

Now, if they had only asked me because of their succulence and bulk which lighten the grain ration and assist in keeping the birds in good condition. By taking thought far enough ahead many back-yard poultry keepers can produce most of the green feed needed and thus avoid a considerable expense.

Double-Yard System. If you have enough ground the double-yard system is advisable for supplying green feed during the growing season. By this system the birds are confined in one of the yards while the other is planted to some quick-growing green feed into which the hens are turned when it attains a height of three or four inches. This system, not only furnishes green feed for the birds but freshens and purifies the yard. Among the best crops for this purpose are rape, rye, oats and barley.

It is safe to say that the only vacant thing to be found in Washington was the German embassy, which is still respected as an embassy, although empty—respect, one might say, a boddered sight more than when it wasn't empty.—Frank Ward O'Malley in the Century Magazine.

Yellow Flag Has Roused Ire of Students

A COMPLETE conspiracy of silence, a destroyed yellow flag, a mystery—and coming events—elements in what promises to be one of the season's most interesting high school. The facts are these: At the Central high did not participate. At Central they say the rules of the meet were such as to bar Central's best man.

In any event, early the next morning when the students began to arrive for school they were amazed to see floating from the top of the 60-foot steel flag mast on Central high building a yellow flag.

Consideration was given. Whoever had placed the yellow banner on the flagpole which were intended for the Stars and Stripes, had cut the banners so the flag could not be lowered.

Soon Jay Long, a Central athlete, was trying to climb the pole. Failing, his place was taken by a second-year man, Carl Stein of 928 Fifth street, northeast, who triumphantly brought down the yellow banner. It was torn to shreds, the students wearing the strips as lapel streamers.

But feelings of the students were mixed. Some laughed. Others raged. An order was issued by Principal Emory Wilson that no retaliation be attempted—but runners about the school are that McKinley Manual Training school, otherwise known as "Tech," will find her steps painted yellow some morning—from which it is obvious that "Tech" is suspected of hauling up the yellow banner on Central's masthead.

Meanwhile the students say, "The yellow-flag episode does not represent 'Tech' spirit as a whole—it was a few of the students who put up the flag, it 'Tech' did it all."

Dainty Uniforms Adorn Fair Society Women

RED CROSS service uniforms are quite numerous on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons in Potomac park, where Mrs. Donald Washburn, the former Miss Georgia Schofield, and Miss Carolyn Nash have established a booth.

thousand, the proceeds to go to the Red Cross. This social and benevolent enterprise will operate two afternoons a week, when the Marine band concert is expected to bring the elite world to that particular part of the park from four to seven o'clock. In addition to the Red Cross service uniforms, Miss Nash and Mrs. Washburn are both entitled to wear the khaki skirt, shirt and jacket of the national service school, of which they are graduates. This very popular uniform of three years ago when the school opened is, however, much less becoming than the Red Cross veil of blue, gray or white. When not on duty at their new place of business, patriotic business, of course, with tea, toast and sandwiches for the summer attire.

Miss Belle Baruch, daughter of "Barney" Baruch, who came to Washington for service at $1 per week, and paid $18,000 house rent for the season, is the only young woman of smart society entitled to wear the uniform of the Woman's Radio corps, patterned very closely to that of the English aviators.

Hippo Has His First Birthday Anniversary

A LITTLE over a year ago a baby hippopotamus was born into the family herd around his pink ears, his tall clipped, and his early morning bath out of ready to celebrate his first birthday.

Although he is known as "Hippo" to the animals at the zoo, his real name is Hippopotamus Amphibius Lines, and he can trace his ancestry back to the denizens of the African forests and jungles, where his ancestors roamed supreme. The keepers and children who visit him call him Buster.

Buster is the color of a mole, has pink ears and feet, and large, poppy brown eyes that bat at you, and he looks like—well, like a baby hippopotamus, that's all.

When he was born, May 23 last year, Buster weighed only 40 pounds. Today he weighs 400 pounds, and carries it almost as well as his mother manages.

"My poor baby! Look what you're coming to," his mother's eyes seem to say as she looks sympathetically at him.

Sharp at ten o'clock that morning the keeper turned the key in the iron gate of the lion house. In one corner of it lay the hippopotamus in the water with the baby's head on her shoulder.

They awake every morning at 7:30, but that's all right. They had turned over for a beauty sleep.

POULTRY NOTES

The "best" incubator is usually the machine that the operator fully understands.

By keeping a back-yard poultry flock the family would not only help in reducing living costs but would have eggs of a quality and freshness which are often difficult to obtain.

Hens with pale legs and beak are usually those that have been laying heavily.

Making money with ducks is not easy. It demands hard work, persistence and careful watching.

In dry weather a cup of water set in the incubator occasionally will cause better hatches. Don't remove all the chickens from the incubator until the hatch is finished. Clean and air the machine good before setting again.

Even as few hens as six or eight should produce eggs enough where used economically for a family of four or five persons throughout the entire year, except during the molting period of the fall and early winter.

The ducks should never be handled as hens. Always carry them by the necks.

Drakes may be sorted from ducks by the curled tail feather, which curls upward. A duck quacks, a drake does not.

Beware of the cracked corn that heated in the bin or can on account of having too much moisture in it. Moldy grain of any kind is unfit for chick feed.

Milk is one of the very best of feeds for chickens of all ages.

After the chicks are taken out of the brooders, or the brooder is taken out of the colony house, they should have free range of the adjoining fields.

Think what it will mean in better health, in more enjoyment because of better ventilation and freedom from insects. Why not let us share the pleasure with you by furnishing screens?

HOMEMADE CHEESE CUTS

MEAT BILL, SAVES MILK

Cottage cheese is the ideal hot-weather meat substitute. No skim-milk should be allowed to go to waste through oversouring when cottage cheese can be made so easily and used in so many different ways. These suggestions on making cottage cheese at home are offered by the dairy department of the University of Wisconsin.

Each quart of milk will make about one-half pound of cottage cheese.

The proper temperature for souring the milk for cottage cheese is 75 degrees Fahrenheit. Sweet milk should stand at this temperature until it curdles. Use a thermometer to get the temperature, don't guess.

Putting the pan or pail of milk in a larger container filled with water of the same temperature will help the temperature of the milk even.

A tablespoon of sour milk will hasten the curdling of the sweet skim-milk.

When a firm, smooth curd has formed, the milk should be stirred occasionally, meanwhile raising the temperature to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. After the half hour the curd is ready to be drained. The more the curd is heated, the drier the cheese will be.

Drain the curd by pouring it into a sack of thin cloth or a draining cloth thrown over a pail. When the curd becomes mushy and drains slowly, the sides of the cloth may be raised occasionally to hasten the draining.

The cheese should be salted to suit the taste, after the curd is firm and almost drained dry. About one-half teaspoon of salt to a quart of milk may be worked into the cheese.

Sweet or sour cream may be added to the finished cheese to make it of even finer flavor.

The whey may be saved and used for whey honey or whey punch, or to moisten chick's feed.

National and Local Meat Business

The meat business of the country is conducted by various agencies—

By small slaughter-houses in villages—

By local Abattoirs or small Packing Houses in towns—

both

Using only a part of the local live stock supply

and

Furnishing only a part of the local demand for meat.

These slaughtering and distributing agencies fill a well defined but necessarily restricted place in the distribution of the products of live stock.

VETERAN PITCHER IS AN OFFICER IN ARMY

Capt. Edward J. LaFille, D. R. C., will be remembered by fans as a member of the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff and later with the Brooklyn Dodgers. After quitting baseball he was a professor in a dental college. He entered the army as a lieutenant and was later advanced on completing a course of study. He is now in France.

LEARNED FROM GOLF EXPERT

It is said that Fred Luderus, one of the most dangerous hitters in the National League, really became an effective batter through the instructions of a golf expert.

"This golf expert was in the city where the Phillies were training. He noticed that Luderus had a tendency to step forward and throw his body in front of the plate as he prepared to swing at the ball. Now to a golfer that was a fatal weakness. The good golfer always throws his body into the swing. It is certain that if the body goes forward first the only power remaining in the swing is that of the arms alone.

This expert noted that when Luderus met the ball there was no force to the blow and easy grounders trickled off his bat. He coached Luderus on his stance, as he called it, and explained the necessity of getting the force behind the blow. Luderus tried it and after a time began to hit the ball with terrific force. And any big league player will tell you now that Luderus certainly has a wallop.

Two Southpaws Lost in Trade.

The two southpaw pitchers who figured in the big deal between Yankees and Browns last winter seem lost to the trading clubs. Eddie Plank has pitched for a steel plant team and Nick Cullip never has been heard from since the deal was made, though Business Manager Quinn of the Browns made every effort to locate him.

Back Again, How Long?

Pitcher Scott Perry is back in the big show again. It seems that immediately after signing with Atlanta he was transferred to Connie Mack, who will give him a trial.

Harry Hannah Making Good.

Harry Hannah, the new Yankee catcher, has made a fine impression on fans by his all-round work.

Brooklyn seems to have picked up a real hitter in Ray Schmandt, who is playing second base.

MEMBERS OF BRAVES WILL RUN OUT HITS

No Loafing between Home Plate and Initial Bag.

Incident in Exhibition Game Demonstrates That There is Always Chance for Unexpected Is-bell's Reputation Saved.

The members of the Boston Braves are running "ten out" this season. There's no loafing between the home plate and first base.

It isn't because every member of the Braves doesn't know that he should loaf out to first on every ball he hits, either. The Braves know there's always a chance on a ground ball that looks like a made-to-order putout, or a fly ball that is about to drop into a "well."

But an incident that happened this spring during an exhibition game between the Braves and Yankees at Charlotte, N. C., made a lasting impression on the Braves, and what George Staggins said—deleted by the censors—will last even longer.

Big Ed Konechky slapped a hot single to right field in the eighth inning of the game in question. It was a clean hit if there ever was one, but as Konechky didn't figure he could get farther than first base he took his time running it out. Result was that Konechky went to sleep for about two seconds. In those two seconds Frank Glibbooley scooped up the ball and threw the big fellow out at first base by about two feet.

Konechky was not only robbed of a hit, but his professional pride was in pretty badly hurt, and what he heard in the way of oratory from the direction of the bench will not be forgotten. All the other members of the Braves saw the play and heard what Staggins had to say, so they are not liable to forget to run "ten out. They've run out a number of long foul drives already.

The incident of Konechky being thrown out recalls a game played by old timers at San Antonio, Tex., several years ago during the meeting there of the National association. Old Bald Eagle Isbell of White Sox fame, was in the game. He singled cleanly to right field and stumbled as he started toward first base. The right fielder's throw beat Izzy to first by about a step, and when Izzy saw he was out he yelled to the first baseman to drop the throw.

"Muff it, you big stiff; muff it," shouted Izzy, "or my reputation's ruined. Remember, I'm the only guy that ever got four two-buggers in a world's series game."

And the first baseman muffed it.

Names of Days.

The Roman names of the days have undergone little more than a translation in the Saxon and consequently English names. Thus, the first day of the week is Sunday—named after the Saxon, Dios Solis with the Romans. Monday is Monday—named after the Saxon, Dies Lunae with the Romans. Tuesday is Tuesday—named after the Saxon, Dies Martis with the Romans. Wednesday is Wednesday—named after the Saxon, Dies Mercurii with the Romans. Thursday is Thursday—named after the Saxon, Dies Jovis with the Romans. Friday is Friday—named after the Saxon, Dies Veneris with the Romans. Saturday is Saturday—named after the Saxon, Dies Saturni with the Romans.

DOG A PROBLEM IN ENGLAND

Diminishing Food Supply Makes Canine Industry Difficult One From War Standpoint.

The British government is wrestling with the problem of what to do with dogs. In view of the rapidly diminishing stocks of food, it seems settled that the number of dogs is to be reduced. There are hardly any dog biscuits left, and no more will be manufactured, as the low grade flour from which they are made is wanted for the textile trades.

Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, refused to include a heavy tax on dogs in his budget, which he introduced in the last week of April. His friends said that such a tax would kill dog-breeding as an industry, and would work unequally between rich and poor. The poor man's dog would be sacrificed, while the pampered pet would flourish.

Now the alternative proposal is to prohibit the breeding of dogs during the war except under license. The effect of this would be to allow the perpetuation of pedigree breeds, which have taken many years and large sums of money to produce, and also useful dogs, like sheep dogs and army dogs. The breeding of mongrels and probably of purely fancy dogs would be prohibited.

There will be no interference with people who already have dogs. They will in the future need all their ingenuity to keep pets fed.

Militant Medicos.

Events in France have led to a shortage of medical men with the army, for it stands to reason that in any of the prisoners taken a percentage will represent the medical personnel of the forces. And that percentage must often be a high one, as in the zones of the clearing station mobility cannot be a feature.

Bullets Never Touch Him.

England has one army man who appears to have a charmed life. He is Captain George C. Foulds, who is now lecturing in this country. Foulds went to the Flanders front in 1915 and has gone through every battle of the war without a scratch.

Propaganda.

There is a movement on foot to start an educational propaganda within the German empire, to inform the people of those countries of the real demands that the other nations of the world make. One writer suggests that the best thing to be done in that direction is to print two or three million copies of the Ten Commandments in the German language and distribute them over the whole of the country by airplanes.—Omaha World-Herald.

Substitute for Lycopodium.

An interesting method is being employed to provide a substitute for lycopodium, the vegetable material formerly obtained from Russia for casting molds in foundries, to prevent sand from clumping to the castings. The substitute is the dust obtained from the gas discharges of drying apparatus in works where coal or lignite is beliquated, a centrifugal process being employed to precipitate it.—Exchange.

Hate Straight Lines.

The straight line is an abomination to the Chinese. They endeavor to avoid it in their streets and buildings and have banished it completely where country field paths are concerned.

Bull Worried Came From India.

The pink bull worm, the worst enemy known to the cotton crop of India, probably originated there. Later it was found in Burma, Ceylon, Egypt and in almost every other cotton district on the globe.

Doan's Kidney Pills Effectful Wonderful Recovery After Other Medicines Had Failed.

"I don't believe I would be alive to give this testimony if it weren't for Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Julia A. Thomas, 1125-A Missouri Ave., East St. Louis, Ill. "I was in a serious condition with kidney trouble; my feet and ankles were terribly swollen and the kidney secretions caused agony in passing. I had terrible rheumatic pains and often got so dizzy I dared not walk for fear of falling. I felt as if I would go blind."

Mrs. Thomas grew weak as a baby and often had to grasp something to keep from falling. My nerves were all unstrung and the least noise startled me. Nothing benefited me and I was discouraged. A neighbor happened to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and I began using them. The swellings and pains were soon eased up and it was not a short time before my kidneys were in good shape again. They have never bothered me since nor have I had any backache or other kidney trouble. I have gained 55 pounds since I was cured and can do all my own work without suffering."

ALEX F. JONES GIVES NEWS FROM FRANCE

Sunday, May 26, 1918

My Dearest Mother:—
I have time today to sit down and write you a real honest letter. Up to a week ago we were being shifted around at a rate that made us dizzy, but now we have our train and are waiting in a beautiful part of France for orders to go to the front. We have been waiting for a real camp resting up from the trip across. Since then we have taken a long jump to another part of the country, where we were assigned to our train, and from there to what is called a "train garage" conveniently near our point of operation.

I have never had the opportunity to tell you about our train, which is like a number of others, the United States is operating in France. These trains are bought by the American Red Cross, made in England, and operated by the government with regular hospital train units.

They are made up of 16 vestibule, and coaches and are the finest thing on wheels. Each train certainly is taking care of his wounded. The train has 284 patient berths, all of them containing soft mattresses, heavy blankets, and real pillows. The interior of a patient car is done in white enamel and is equipped with ingenious ventilators and electric fans, among other things, for the comfort of the wounded. There is a car devoted to a dispensary that carries for ten days recently, the average drug store, offices, an operating room for emergencies, two dining and cook cars, a personnel car for the men, fixed up as nicely as any of the others, a sick car, and an officers' car. All cars that are not finished in white are in mahogany and rosewood. Completely equipped a train represents an outlay of $500,000. They are simply rolling palaces and when a wounded man is placed at the front, bound either for some base hospital in the rear, or to some port, where he can be sent back, he knows that everything that can be done for him is being done.

I wish that every person in the states could see these trains and the big hospitals of the American Red Cross. Then they would realize what the Red Cross really does. I remember that I often heard the remark in the states that it was hard to understand why the huge sums asked by the organization were needed. The handbags and branches that you are familiar with is but one activity.

Situated, as we are, in what is probably the most beautiful part of France, (at this moment I can look out of the window and see a scene that would make you gasp for the sheer beauty of it) I am hardly in the mood to tell you what I can of the war today. Even in the short time I have been here I have seen enough to sicken me. The whole bloody mess. You have read, undoubtedly, hundreds of stories of a nation in mourning, of the thousands upon thousands of the dead, of the thousands of the wounded and of the devastation. I have seen just enough of it to know that the story has not been written by half. I wish I could tell you of the number of Americans in France, from what I have seen and what I have been told by those who are in position to know.

There are construction projects of a permanent character going up all over the country—all built with the dollars and energy of the United States that are sturdy and lasting. But I am going to get as far away from the war this morning as I possibly can, and tell you about this wonderful valley just to illustrate that France is worth fighting for. I am looking out of the office window now in a meadow that is almost white with heavy clover is a herd of white cattle (the cattle of France are all white it seems). Beyond is a tiny village, hidden in the trees except for red tiled roofs and a church steeple or two. The bells are ringing now and I can see a number of little girls, all dressed in white, and with long white veils, running down the road to be there on time. It must be communion morning.

Then on past the village the hills rise almost to the clouds. And to the very crest of these hills are patches of the densest hollyhock ground which we have found on the fields of potatoes and corn and rye. The French are too thrifty to waste an inch of ground. There is one particular hill that graduates into a plateau. At the top of this point is the ruins of an old Roman city. We walked over there the other day—21 miles both ways, and browsed around the old columns and the shrine that is still intact.

And then the eye wanders back to the valley and sees a rushing little river, the name of which is very familiar to you. On its right bank is the ruins of an old chateau, once the home of a noble family of Burgundy. The old manor is still there, now grown rank with brush. The drawbridge is almost covered but still visible, as are the hedged walks about the manor. Some of the ruins are almost back to back, the entrance to the secret passage that leads from the chateau into a neighboring hill is still accessible, but so full of adders we didn't attempt to go through.

From the train it is but 9 kilometers to a beautiful little city that was the capital of Gaul in the time of Caesar. There is an arch there that was built in 69 B. C. and several buildings dating back to the same time. In this town there is a cathedral that was started in 1100 and which is as beautiful as any I have seen in much larger cities. The trip over there has been through the hills when I walked thru them I realized as I never have before the pitiful limitations of my capacity for expression. You come face to face with some picturesque farmer driving his big cart, drawn by white oxen, or some peasant family on its way to town in funny little carts pulled by a milk-eyed burro. You come on scenes that make you think that what you have seen before is indeed pale compared to this. There is always another no beautiful, but when the town is reached the first thing one sees is some soldier hobbling along on crutches, on being told that he and his wife are going to be always in black. It brings the war back and everything beautiful goes out of mind.

This will be all for this morning. I will write again and then, perhaps, have had more experience of a more exciting nature to tell you.
Private A. F. Jones.

It is the general opinion that if the little fellow was drowned in the river that the body was carried down stream by the high water that prevailed at the time and for some time since.

HOMEMADE CHEESE CUTS
MEAT BILL SAVES MILK
Cottage cheese is the ideal hot-weather meat substitute. No skim-milk should be allowed to go to waste through oversouring when cottage cheese can be made so easily and used in so many different ways. These suggestions on making cottage cheese at home are offered by the dairy department of the University of Wisconsin.

Each quart of milk will make about one-half pound of cottage cheese.

The proper temperature for souring the milk for cottage cheese is 75 degrees Fahrenheit. Sweet milk should stand at this temperature until it curdles. Use a thermometer to get the temperature; don't guess.

Putting the pan or pail of milk in a larger container filled with water of the same temperature will help the temperature of the milk even.

A tablespoon of sour milk will hasten the curdling of the sweet skim-milk.

When a firm, smooth curd has formed, the milk should be stirred occasionally, raising the temperature to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. After a half hour the curd is ready to be drained. The more the curd is heated, the drier the cheese will be.

Drain the curd by pouring it to a sack of thin cloth or a draining cloth thrown over a pail. When the curd becomes moistly and drains slowly, the sides of the cloth may be raised occasionally to hasten the draining.

The cheese should be salted to suit the taste, after the curd is firm and almost drained dry. About one-half teaspoon of salt to a quart of milk may be worked into the cheese.

Sweet or sour cream may be added to the finished cheese to make it of even finer flavor.

The whey may be saved and used for whey honey or whey punch, or to moisten chick's feed.

Think what it will mean in better health, in more enjoyment because of better ventilation and freedom from insects. Why not let us share the pleasure with you by furnishing screens?

It is the general opinion that if the little fellow was drowned in the river that the body was carried down stream by the high water that prevailed at the time and for some time since.

HOMEMADE CHEESE CUTS MEAT BILL, SAVES MILK

Cottage cheese is the ideal hot-weather meat substitute. No skim-milk should be allowed to go to waste through over-souring when cottage cheese can be made so easily and used in so many different ways.

These suggestions on making cottage cheese at home are offered by the dairy department of the University of Wisconsin.

Each quart of milk will make about one-half pound of cottage cheese.

The proper temperature for souring the milk for cottage cheese is 75 degrees Fahrenheit. Sweet milk should stand at this temperature until it curdles. Use a thermometer to get the temperature; don't guess.

Putting the pan or pail of milk in a larger container filled with water of the same temperature will help the temperature of the milk even.

A tablespoon of sour milk will hasten the curdling of the sweet skim-milk.

When a firm, smooth curd has formed, the milk should be stirred occasionally, meanwhile raising the temperature to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. After a half hour the curd is ready to be drained. The more the curd is heated, the drier the cheese will be.

Drain the curd by pouring it into a sack of thin cloth or a draining cloth thrown over a pail. When the curd becomes mushy and drains slowly, the sides of the cloth may be raised occasionally to hasten the draining.

The cheese should be salted to suit the taste, after the curd is firm and almost drained. About one-half teaspoon of salt to a quart of milk may be worked into the cheese. Sweet or sour cream may be added to the finished cheese, to make it of even finer flavor.

The whey may be saved and used for whey honey or whey punch, or to moisten chick's feed.

How The Bayonet Lost a Great Battle

BAYONETS, first made at Bayonne, France, whenever they get their name, to begin, were almost as dangerous to the army with them as to its foe.

Packaged with a solid butt, to be jammed into the muzzle, it rendered a gun useless for firing.

The butt was soon changed to a socket, but not before the new-fangled bayonet brought the English army to grief at Killikranke.

The English soldier found the bayonet a poor fit, hard to get into his gun; and when he got it in, hard to get out. When he had to bayonet, he couldn't bayonet; when he had to shoot, he couldn't shoot.

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

The bayonet experiment gave the Scots the battle. To safeguard tire users against the chance of experiment, Goodrich Test Car Fleets put the road test to Goodrich Tire, to make them in word and deed SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

Goodrich does but one thing, SERVICE VALUE—That is, what a tire proves it is worth to the motorist on his car and on the road, in comfort, economy, dependability, and durability.

All Goodrich still and sincerity build up SERVICE VALUE. For you get SILVERTOWN and TIRES, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

Gain mileage, and the security of knowing your tires will not fail, by demanding SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

BIG SHORTAGE OF AUTO TIRES

There are indications, say all the manufacturers that it will be difficult to secure the materials for making auto tires. Many companies are already unable to supply the wants of their dealers. This will make prices very much higher for fall.

We have on hand a good supply of American, Mansfield and a few Radio Auto Tires. These tires are priced very much lower than present market value. Get one while they last at Johnson & Hill Co.

National and Local Meat Business

The meat business of the country is conducted by various agencies—

By small slaughter-houses in villages—

These slaughtering and distributing agencies fill a well defined but necessarily restricted place in the distribution of the products of live stock.

Modernizing China.

That China is being modernized faster than most of us may think is indicated by the increased use of the telephone in that vast country. It also is worthy of note that although practically the whole equipment comes from abroad and is to a considerable extent operated by foreigners, the prices for service are much below those to which we are accustomed in this land of high prices.

Foggy in Camp.

It was an unusually foggy morning at Camp Grant. The soldiers were in line as usual ready for drilling, but the sergeant noticed that somebody was out of place, he being quite a distance away. He called to him to get in line but no answer was received nor did the object stir. After calling and shouting to him several times he walked up to him, when to his dismay he found he had been talking to a post.

Flying Mileage Fatality.

In 1908 it was estimated that for every 300 miles flown one life was sacrificed. By 1910 the mileage per fatality had risen to 3,500. In 1911 the distance had increased to 4,000—statistics for France that year gave the mileage as 62,500 per fatality.

Nothing Doing.

Don't twist your tongue to say pretzel in Indianapolis daily luncheons, as the girls working at the counters have put a ban on the word. Patrons at a daily lunch in West Washington street, who have been accustomed to ordering coffee and a "pretzel," are being admonished by the counter "moy" to say "ten tins." "You're an American, aren't you?" the girls say. "You have seen on the movie screens what the Germans are and what they have been doing, haven't you? Then, don't say pretzel, because it's German, and no German goes in here."—Indianapolis News.

Small Courage Short.

The Japanese are short of small courage and are beginning to feel the absence thereof quite as much as people in the United States. Their government has decided to issue small paper notes of 50, 20 and 10 sen denominations. The Japanese sen is equal to one-half cent of our currency.

Officer: What's the matter?
Candidate:—Case mislabeled identity; my house don't know it's me.

Not Surprising.

"Is your lady husband doing anything new, my dear woman?"
"Yes; he's doing 'em."

Poor Fellow.

"Just as some people learn the ropes they quit."

"Yes—A Man Who Is Hungry, for instance."

After all, patience is about the highest form of politeness.

In front: Witt, Athletics; Shero, Red Sox.

VETERAN PITCHER IS AN OFFICER IN ARMY

Capt. Edward F. LaFette, D. R. O., will be remembered by fans as a member of the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff and later with the Brooklands. After getting his army commission, he was a professional in a baseball club in the navy of driving in runs.

LEARNED FROM GOLF EXPERT

Fred Luderus, Who Had Habit of Stepping Forward at Plate, Is Shown Error of his Ways.

It is said that Fred Luderus, one of the most dangerous hitters in the National league, really became an effective batter through the instructions of a golf expert.

This expert noted that when Luderus met the ball there was no force to the blow and easy guesses trickled at his bat. The coach Luderus on his stance, as he called it, and explained the necessity of getting the force behind the blow. Luderus tried it and after a time began to hit the ball with a force. And any big league player will tell you that Luderus certainly has a wallop.

Two Southpaws Lost in Trade.

The two southpaw pitchers who figured in the big deal between Yankees and Browns last winter seem lost to the trading clubs. Eddie Plink has been traded to the Cleveland Indians, and Nick Cutler never has been heard from since the deal was made, though Business Manager Quinn of the Browns made every effort to locate him.

Joins Team Till Called.

Jim Park, who has joined the aviation corps, but is waiting for assignment to service, has concluded to join Joe "Chick" Columbus team and pitch until called. He has been coaching the University of Kentucky basketball team and is in good shape.

 GRIFFITH AND GOWDY ARE GIVEN PRAISE. *****

Big league baseball owes more to Clark Griffith than it ever will pay him. With the keen foresight that has been characteristic of his team managing he organized last season his bat and ball fund for our soldiers in France. It has been a tremendous success, and is now carrying on under its own management. Yet it required much of Griffith's time last season, when he gave days of quiet, earnest effort to making it succeed.

 Drop Roy Wilkinson. *****

Roy Wilkinson, the Indians' rookie finger, has been released to Salt Lake city under an optional agreement.

 Back Again, How Long? *****

Pitcher Scott Perry is back in the big show again. It seems that immediately after signing with Atlanta he was transferred to Connie Mack, who will give him a trial.

 Harry Hannah Making Good. *****

Harry Hannah, the new Yankee catcher, has made a fine impression on fans by his all-round work.

 Brooklyn seems to have picked up a real hitting in Ray Schmandt, who is playing second base. *****

BASEBALL STORIES

Manager Rowland still thinks his team will repeat.

Fred Moltwitz has apparently recovered his batting eye.

At Wickford Is the Boston Braves' leading outfielder and slugger.

After hitting safely in eleven games George Siler went hitless before Carl Mays.

General Crowder shipped a big package of dynamite underneath organized baseball.

Shorwood Magee is the most prominent man on the Cincinnati club in the matter of driving in runs.

Jack Warhop, the old Yankee pitcher, is now playing shortstop with the Toronto International league club.

Jack Gracy has taken his place in the regular lineup of the Indians, and Joe Wood is having a vacation from the outfield.

Even though this is the season when they don't mean anything in particular, the baseball percentages have a nice, summery look.

Mayor Smith of Philadelphia, has refused to allow service baseball teams to play on Sunday in Shibe park, the home of the Athletics.

Manager Moran of the Phils declares that his club has lost more tough close ball games this season than any other team in the National league.

Pitcher Jiggs Bland, of the Toledo American league club, former Boston American, has been purchased by the New York American club.

Manager Fielder Jones of the Browns is greatly disappointed in his pitching staff. Gallia, Lowdermilk and Davenport are all being hit hard.

Grover Cleveland Alexander will pitch for the baseball team of soldiers at Camp Funston and has been detailed to take charge of camp athletics.

Day by day these Mackmen are making the fans realize that Connie was right when he predicted that his team would make a lot of trouble this season.

If George Burns could play at Shibe Park for the whole season he would probably finish with a batting average of .450. He is a demon in that ballclub.

Jim Scott, former member of the pitching staff of the White Sox, now a captain in the army, is missing games between Pacific coast cantonment teams.

Dave Bandorf still plays his sprightly game at shortstop for the Phils. Time has not impaired his speed or his batting eye. Baneroff is the real star of Moran's club these days.

Dick Rudolph, the Braves' star pitcher, who has been holding out for a certain salary, says that he intends to accept a position at a big shipbuilding yard in the East. Rudolph is above the draft age limit so that he cannot be charged with avoiding military duty.

Catcher John Henry is making an excellent substitute for Hank Gowdy behind the plate for the Boston Braves.

Claude Davidson, former Brown university star, has ousted "Red" Shannon from Connie Mack's infield. In addition to fielding well, Davidson is displaying unusual ability to hit major league hurling.

Among those caught in the draft is the fellow who was always kicking because the major leaguers would not give him even a trial. Plenty of athletes are wearing big league suits who would not stand an army doctor's test.

When Bill McKeehole was sold to the Pittsburgh club he returned to his first love in baseball. It was as a member of that club that National league fans first heard of him nearly eight years ago.

Joe Casoy, who ten years ago was at the receiving end of the Detroit Tigers' battery, is back in the big show. Griffith has called him up from Minneapolis to take the position recently vacated by Eddie Gharriety.

Gus Getz, the Pittsburgh boy, purchased from the Cleveland American league club, says that it seems great to be able to play in his home town.

General Crowder will have to argue a long while before he convinces the American snail boy that George Siler, Ty Cobb and their like are not engaged in an essential industry.

Dnn Howley, who will help train the Red Sox pitchers, and catches this year, is a favorite with Pacific coast fans, having once caught for Portland.

MEMBERS OF BRAVES WILL RUN OUT HITS

No Loafing Between Home Plate and Initial Bag.

Incident in Exhibition Game Demonstrates That There Is Always Chance for Unexpected—Isbell's Reputation Saved.

The members of the Boston Braves are running 'em out this season. There's no loafing between the home plate and initial bag.

It isn't because every member of the Braves doesn't know that he should loaf it is to first on every ball he hits, either. The Braves know there's always a chance on a ground ball that looks like a made-or-put-out, or a fly ball that is about to drop into a "well."

But an incident that happened this spring during an exhibition game between the Braves and Yankees at Charlotte, N. C., made a lasting impression on the Braves, and what George Stallings said—deleted by the censor—will last even longer.

Big Ed Koney, who had a hot single to right field in the eighth inning of the game in question, was a clean hit. If there ever was any, but as Koney didn't figure he could get farther than first base he took his time running it out. Result was that Koney went to sleep for about two seconds, and in those two seconds Frank Gilroy scooped up the ball and threw the big fellow out at first base by about two feet.

Koney was not only robbed of a hit, but his professional pride was pretty badly hurt, and what he heard in the way of criticism from the direction of the bench will not be forgotten. All the other members of the Braves saw the play and heard what Stallings had to say, so they are not likely to forget to run 'em out. They've run out a number of long foul drives already.

The incident of Koney being thrown out recalls a game played by old timers at San Antonio, Tex., several years ago during the meeting there of the National association. Old Bald Eagle Isbell, of White Sox fame, was in the game. He started cleanly to right field and stumbled as he started toward first base. The right fielder's throw beat Isbell to first by about a step, and when Isbell saw he was out he yelled to the first baseman to drop the throw.

"Just if you hit stiff; stiff it," shouted Isbell, "or my reputation's ruined. Remember, I'm the only guy that ever got four two-buggers in a world's series game."

And the first baseman muffed it.

"DUKE" FARRELL IS NOW UNITED STATES MARSHAL

Charles A. Farrell of Marlboro, Mass., noted major league baseball player and known on and off the diamond as "Duke" Farrell, has been appointed a deputy United States marshal by United States Marshal Mitchell of Boston.

For the last three years Farrell has coached the New York team of the American league.

Since the war started he has wanted to do something for the government and he feels that knowledge which he has picked up in his many years of traveling with baseball teams and meeting countless people will be a valuable aid to him in his new work.

Pratt Off on Fielding.
Derritt Pratt is hitting the ball hard, but he has not been showing the standard in the field that marked his playing with the St. Louis Browns.

Nunemaker Starring for Browns.
Leslie Nunemaker has been doing all the catching for the Browns and has been hitting the ball hard.

Robinson Kidding Himself.
Manager Wilbert Robinson of Brooklyn believes the Red Sox have the same chance to win the American league pennant as have the Hobbits of coping the National league bag.

Beck Called for Service.
First Baseman Fred Beck, former major league, then with the Reds, and later in the minors, winding up at Peoria last year, has been called for army service.

Would Buy Cardinals.
Russell R. Gardner, a prominent business man of St. Louis, is said to have offered $250,000 for the Cardinals.

War Gets Another.
Wayne Barham, who was the star of Vancouver's pitching staff last year, has decided not to report to Bob Brown's team this year. Reason, job in the shipyard.

Blues Drop Pitcher.
The Kansas City club has released Pitcher George Planco to Atlanta of the Southern league.

Nice Boost for Gedeon.
Fielder Jones insists that Joe Gedeon positively is one of the best second basemen in the major leagues. Joe has been fielding well and hitting hard since the season opened.

Kallio and Yelle may look like the firm name of a Chinese laundry, but it is the Detroit recruit battery.

It begins to look as if not enough men have been drafted from the Boston Red Sox for the good of the league.

Lives 200 Years!

For more than 200 years, Hagar's Oil, the famous national remedy for indigestion, has been recognized as an infallible relief from all forms of indigestion and bladder troubles. Its very age is proof that it must have unusual merit.

If you are troubled with pains or aches in the back, feel tired in the morning, headache, indigestion, nervous, painful or frequent passages of urine, irritation or stone in the bladder, you will almost certainly find relief in Hagar's Oil. Hagar's Oil Capsule. This is the good old remedy that has stood the test for hundreds of years, prepared in the proper quantity and convenient form to take. It is imported direct from Holland into America, and you can get it at any drug store. It is a standard, old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. Each capsule contains one dose of five drops and is pleasant and easy to take. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, rheumatism, headache, hay fever, sciatica, gill stones, gravel, "black duck," etc. Your money promptly refunded if they do not relieve you. Names of Days.

The Roman names of the days have undergone little more than a transposition in the Saxon and consequently English names. Thus, the first day of the week is Sunday—day with the Saxons, Dies Solis with the Romans. Monday is Monday—day with the Saxons, Dies Lunae with the Romans. Tuesday is among the Saxons, Tuesday—day is, Tuesday's day—from Tuesday, a mythical person, supposed to have been the first warlike leader of the Teutonic nations; among the Romans it was Dies Martis, the day of Mars, their god of war. The fourth day of the week was among the Saxons, Wednesday, the day of Woden, or Odin, another mythical being of high valiant reputation among the northern nations, and the nearest in character to the Roman god of war.

A Perplexing Problem.

The proposal to raise the draft age to forty years can be objected to by no patriotic citizen, but what we'd all like to know is how you can make a steel helmet stick on a bald head.—Grand Rapids Press.

FARMERS ARE WORKING HARDER

And using their feet more than ever before. For all these workers the frequent use of Allen's Foot-Paste, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath, increases their efficiency and insures needed physical comfort. It takes the friction from the shoe, freshens the feet, and prevents blisters, aching and blistered feet. Women everywhere are constant users of Allen's Foot-Paste. Don't get foot sore, get Allen's Foot-Paste. Sold by dealers everywhere, 25c.—Adv.

Smoking in France.

Tobacco cards have made their appearance in France. The town of Aubin has taken the initiative and it is expected that many other towns and cities will follow suit. No card will be delivered to youths under sixteen years of age. No provision is made for women. There has been a shortage of tobacco in France during the last three months.

Substitute for Lycopodium.

An interesting method is being employed to provide a substitute for lycopodium, the vegetable material formerly obtained from Russia for coating molds in foundries, to prevent sand from clinging to the castings. The substitute is the dust obtained from the gas discharges of drying apparatus in works where coal or lignite is burned, a centrifugal process being employed to precipitate it.—Exchange.

Hate Straight Lines.

The straight line is an abomination to the Chinese. They endeavor to avoid it in their streets and buildings and have banked it completely where country field paths are concerned.

Bolt Worm Came From India.

The pink boll worm, the worst enemy known to the cotton crop of India, probably originated there. Later it was found in Burma, Ceylon, Egypt and in almost every other cotton district on the globe.

Not Feasible.

Hippopotamus meat is said to be as good as pork, but the chances are that a lot of hippopotamus running about would mess up a back yard almost as much as chickens.—Marion Star.

Sanitary Spoon.

Among sanitary appliances for eating places is a spoon pressed from paper that can be thrown away after using.

The Way of It.

"Why not?"
"Are not his ill-gotten gains?"

DOG A PROBLEM IN ENGLAND

The British government is wrestling with the problem of what to do with dogs. In view of the rapidly diminishing stocks of food. It seems settled that the number of dogs is to be reduced. There are hardly any dog biscuits left, and no more will be manufactured, as the low grade flour from which they are made is wanted for the textile trade.

Donald Law, chancellor of the exchequer, refused to include a heavy tax on dogs in his budget, which he introduced in the last week of April. His friends said that such a tax would kill dog-breeding as an industry, and would work unequally between rich and poor. The poor man's dog would be sacrificed, while the pampered Pekingese would flourish.

Now the alternative proposal is to prohibit the breeding of dogs during the war except under license. The effect of this would be to allow the retention of pedigree breeds, which command many a purse and large sums of money to purchase, and also useful dogs, like sheep dogs and army dogs. The breeding of mongrels and probably of purely tinny dogs would be prohibited.

There will be no interference with people who already have dogs. They will in the future need all their ingenuity to keep pets fed.

Militant Medicine.

Events in France have led to a shortage of medical men with the result, for it stands to reason that in any toll of prisoners taken a percentage will represent the medical personnel of the forces. And that percentage must often be a high one, as in the zones of the clearing station mobility cannot be a feature.

Bullets Never Touch Him.

England has one army man who appears to have a charmed life. He is Captain George C. Fennell, who is now lecturing in this country. Fennell went to the front in 1915 and has gone through every battle of the war without a scratch.

Propaganda.

There is a movement on foot to start an educational propaganda within the German empire, to inform the people of those countries of the real demands that the other nations of the world make. One writer suggests that the best thing to do is to print three million copies of the Ten Commandments in the German language and distribute them over the whole of the country by airplanes.—Omaha World-Herald.

The "unbelievable" of Friday owes its origin to Christ's death on Good Friday.

Truth Recognized.

We have been told the food will win the war, munitions will win the war, ships will win the war, and are now prepared for the appearance of the startling theory that soldiers will win the war.—Toronto Mail.

So cool off in the shade before going back to work. Don't take chances.

Take care of your stomach, friend. You know you can't work well with your stomach out of fix. "Safety first," must be your motto, so send to your druggist and get a big box of EATONIC, enough for yourself and family, and the hired folks too. It's the wonderful new compound for the quick relief of stomach and bowel miseries. ALEX F. JONES GIVES NEWS FROM FRANCE

Sunday, May 26, 1918
France

My Dearest Mother—
I have time today to sit down and write you a real honest to goodness letter. Up to a week ago we were being shifted around at a rate that made us dizzy, and now we are waiting in a beautiful part of France for orders to go up.

When I last wrote you we were in a rest camp resting up from the war. Since then we have taken a long jump to another part of the country, where we were assigned to our train, and from there to wait in a "train garage" conveniently near our point of operation.

I have never had the opportunity to tell you about our train, which is like a number of others. These trains are bought by the American Red Cross, made in England, and operated by the government with regular hospital units.

Our train is made up of 16 vestibule, steel coaches and are the finest things on wheels. Cade Sam certainly is taking care of his wounded. The train has 384 patient berths, all of them containing soft mattresses, down blankets, and real pillows. The interior of a patient car is done in a manner and is equipped with ingenious ventilators and electric fans, among other things, for the comfort of the wounded. Then there is a car devoted to a dispensary that carries a large stock of the various drugs, dressings, and operating room for emergencies, two dining and cook cars, a personnel car for the men, fixed up as nicely as any of the others, a store car, and an officers car. All cars that are not finished in white are in mahogany and rosewood. Completely equipped train represents an outlay of $500,000.

They are simply rolling palaces and when a wounded man is placed aboard at some evacuation hospital at the front, bound either for some base hospital in the rear, or to some port, where he can be sent back, he knows that everything that can be done for him is being done.

I wish that every person in the states could see these trains and the big hospitals of the American Red Cross. Then they would realize what the Red Cross is really doing. I remember that I often heard a remark in the states that it was hard to understand why the huge sums asked by the organization were needed. The headgear units and branches that you are familiar with is but one activity.

Situated, as we are, in what is probably the most beautiful part of France, (at this moment I can look out of the window and see a scene that would make you gasp for the sheer beauty of it) I am hardly in the mood to tell you what I feel of the war today. Even in the short time I have been here I have seen enough to sicken me of the whole bloody mess. You have read, undoubtedly, hundreds of stories of the nation in mourning, of the thousands upon thousands of the dead, of the through wounds and of the devastation. I have seen just enough of that to know that the story has not been written by half. I wish I could tell you of the number of Americans in France, from what I have seen and what I have been told by those who are in position to know. I know that would make you happy. There are constructional projects of a permanent character going up all over the country—all built with the dollars and energy of the United States that are simply amazing.

But I am going to get as far away from the war this morning as I possibly can, and tell you about this wonderful valley. Just to illustrate that France is worth fighting for, I am going to tell you of the valley now. In a meadow that is almost blue with heavy clover is a herd of white cattle (the cattle of France are all white). It seems as if they were hiding in the trees except for red tiled roofs and a church steeple or two. The bells are ringing now and I can see a number of little girls, all dressed in white, with long white veils, running down the road to be there on time. It must be communion morning.

Then on past the village the hills rise almost to the clouds. And to the very crest of those hills are patches against the dark blue background which we have seen at the valley. The French are too thrifty to waste an inch of ground. There is one particular hill that graduates into a plateau. At the topmost point is the ruins of an old Roman city. We walked over there the other day—21 miles both ways, and browsed around the old columns and the shrine that is still intact.

And then the eye wanders back to the valley and sees a rushing little river, the name of which is very familiar to you. On its right bank is the ruins of an old chateau, occupied 300 years ago by Marie of Burgundy. The old moat is still there, now grown rank with brush. The chateau is almost covered but still visible, as are the hedged walks about the chateau. Some farmer is growing sugar beets in the court inside. The entrance to the secret passage that leads from the chateau into a neighboring hill is still accessible, but so full of adders we didn't attempt to go through.

From the train it is but 6 kilometers to a beautiful little city that was the capital of Gaul in the time of Caesar. There is an arch, there was built in 60 B. C. and several buildings dating back to the same time. In this town there is a cathedral that was started in 1100 and which is as beautiful as any I have seen in much larger cities. The trip over there is through the hills and when I walked thru them I realized as I never have before the pitiful limitations of my capacity for excitement. You can face to face with some picturesque farmer driving his big cart, drawn by white oxen, or some peasant family on its way to town in a little cart propelled by a mule-eyed burro. You come on scenes that make you think that what you have seen before is indeed poor in comparison to this. There is always another more beautiful, but when the town is reached the first thing one sees is some soldier robbing along on a motorcycle, or being followed by a boy and women, thousands of them, always in black. It brings the war back and everything beautiful goes out of mind.

This will be all for this morning. I will write again soon and then, perhaps will have experiences of a more exciting nature to tell you.

Private A. F. Jones.
